to make sure the ingredients are grown in a way that is ethical and fair to the farmer. The local food movement is growing rapidly, and many restaurants are taking advantage of the local food movement to create a more sustainable menu. It's not just about the food, it's about the people who grow it.

The Urban Farm Project through the University of Pittsburgh is a great resource for local food. They have a website that lists local food sources and provides information on how to get involved. The Local Food Network is another great resource for finding local food sources and providing information on how to get involved.
